Wedding Bells.

Miss Clara Kleven, a popular young lady in this district and until recently an operator in the local phone exchange, was united in marriage in Edmonton last week, to Mr. Jack Lattimer.

On Wednesday, March 11, at the home of her parents, Miss Gertrude Leeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Leeder, was united in marriage to Mr. John Sutherland. Rev. W. J. Wilhelms performed the ceremony.

The wedding march was played by Miss Hazel Leeder. The bride looked charming in a gown of cream satin de chine also wearing the traditional bridal veil.

Miss Bessie Leeder, attired in a gown of peach silk, made a very pretty bridesmaid. Miss Ruth Leeder and Miss Alice Cruss of Edmonton, each dressed in rose pink, were the flower-girls. Mr. W. Sutherland of Rabbit Hills, was the best man.

A large number of relatives and friends of the family witnessed the ceremony, after which a delicious dinner was served, 50 guests, partaking of the nuptial repast. The evening was passed very pleasantly with music, singing and games.

The evening was passed very pleasantly with music, singing and games. Many useful and pretty gifts were received. Interesting to the popularity of the young couple.

Another popular young lady of this district was married last week in the person of Miss Mathilda Kulak, daughter of Mr. Henry Kulak, when she became the bride of Mr. John Plathaus, a business man of 97th street, Edmonton. The ceremony was performed by the Clerk of the Court, on Friday, March 6th.

What They're Saying.

Much has been heard recently regarding the operation of the new equalisation of taxation scheme now in operation, and the more one hears arguments about assessments for tax purposes, the more convinced is he that our present system of land tax is fundamentally weak. Land in itself does not represent wealth and has practically no speculative value. Until we get back to assessing improvements as well there is sure to be trouble in arriving at an equitable assessment. —Carstairs Journal.

My grandfather (says a correspondent) was working at a cross-word puzzle the other night, and could get it all except one word. This word called for seven letters, and the definition given was: "A great political party. Grandfather insisted on putting down 'Conservative' as the only logical word, and protested when it was pointed out that it had too many letters; that this was the fault of the people who made the puzzle. —Toronto Telegram.

How many nationalities are there in Canada, asked a rural dame of her pupils the other day, and little Johnny answered: There are four nationalities in Canada, Ukrainians, Englishmen, Presbyterians and Methodists. —Vermilion Standard.

Work

Men are sometimes heard to grumble because they have to work hard to make a living for themselves and families, but the man who makes the most bitter complaint is the one who is out of work. He is anxious to work, and can not obtain employment. Not "hard work," but "out of work" is the real tragedy of life.

The greatest problem confronting the Government and people of Great Britain today is lack of employment, resulting in a million of more men living in idleness. The most serious side of this unfortunate situation, however, is not the loss of productive wealth which this army of potential workers might be creating; it is not the financial drain imposed on the Government and charitable organizations in providing a bare living for these men and their families; it is not even the amount of hardship and suffering which may be entailed. The really serious thing is the effect on the characters and morale of these men forced to live in idleness, and on young children who lack sufficient nourishment to develop strong bodies.

Because many cannot obtain work, and the Government was forced to provide a system of doles in order that these people might live, there has been a decided lowering in the morale of many, with the result that as time has passed thousands have become discouraged, indifferent and shiftless, and have reached that frame of mind where they no longer want work and are quite content to drift along indolently subsisting on Government doles and charity.

Prevailing conditions give added testimony to the truth of the old saying that Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do. Communism and Bolshevism doctrines are openly preached in England and the gospel of a workless world taught. Many of those who are at work are ready to strike on the slightest provocation, notwithstanding the fact of thousands already out of employment. Others are slackers on their jobs and deliberately refrain from performing a fair day's work. The result is that Great Britain is having difficulty in replacing its old pre-war eminence in world manufacturing and commerce, and as a result, industry cannot provide the volume of employment that would otherwise be the case.

European travellers comment on the entirely different picture presented by France and Germany. In both of these countries the gospel of hard work is both taught and practised. Germany is rapidly regaining its old trade and even increasing it over the pre-war figures. A writer, Comyns Beaumont by name, states that Germany's exports to British India, the Dutch East Indies, Java and China were thirty per cent. greater in 1924 than in the pre-war year of 1913; that Germany today manufactures more pig-iron than Great Britain; that in Brazil and Argentina, imports from Germany far exceed those from Great Britain; that in China, East Africa, South Africa and India, Germany's trade is advancing by leaps and bounds, while in the case of India especially Britain's trade is falling off.

Hard work is not a curse, but a blessing. The man who works hard and throws his whole energy into his task is, as a rule, a contented and happy man. It is the idler who is the malcontent, the fault finder, the mischief maker. The theory of a workless world being a paradise is the most insane of all fallacies, and that section of the British people who appear to have accepted a state of unemployment as a permanent, inevitable and not wholly undesirable condition, had better awaken to this fact before it is too late.

Nor is it in Britain alone that people require to beat themselves and come to a full realization of the great truth that in work, hard work, lie to be found their own salvation and the salvation of their country. There are men who say, and seem to think, that their country owes them a living. This is not so. No country owes any man a living unless he is prepared to work for it. Nothing of permanent value can be gained in this world except through work, and the man who refuses to work has nobody but himself to thank if he gets little or nothing out of life.

Agriculturists and Farmers

Hon. John Martin, minister of agriculture for Ontario, explained to members of the Canadian Club at Toronto the difference between agriculturists and farmers. A farmer, he says, makes money in the country and spends it in the city, while an agriculturist makes his money in the city and spends it in the country.

GOOD NEWS FOR RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Now Known That This Trouble Must Be Treated Through the Blood

The most a rheumatic sufferer can hope for in rubbing something on the tender, aching joint is a little relief. No lotion or liniment ever did or ever can do more than this. The rheumatic poison is rooted in the blood. To get rid of it you must treat it through the blood. Any doctor will tell you that this is true. If you want something that will go right to the root of the trouble in the blood, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to purify and enrich the blood, and when they do this all blood troubles, including rheumatism, disappear. Among those who have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Annie Wright, Woolchester, Alta., who says: "I was a sufferer from rheumatism for six years, and during most of that time my life was one of misery. I tried several doctors, and many remedies recommended, but never got more than temporary relief. The trouble seemed to affect my whole system and I was badly run down and suffered from headaches as well. Finally, I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and through these I feel complete relief and to-day I feel like a new person. I am therefore strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone suffering as I did from this trouble."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prefers Federal Subsidy

Manitoba's Position on Resources Different to Alberta Says Premier Bracken

Under present conditions and circumstances Manitoba would rather have its federal subsidy than its natural resources. This was, in effect, the opinion of Premier John Bracken, commenting on Premier Greenfield's announcement that Alberta's fight for its resources had been settled amicably.

The premier stated that Manitoba's position was in many respects different from that of Alberta. So much of Manitoba's resources had been alienated or disposed of by the Federal Government that in this province for the present at least, it was better to leave the matter as it stands, accepting the federal subsidy in lieu of the remaining resources.

Canada and the Empire

Destiny of Canada is in Association With British Empire

In Canada there is a deep-seated belief that this country can work out her destiny to better advantage in political association with the Mother Country than in any other way. Political conceptions have changed since the 13 colonies quarrelled with George III. There is no occasion, no possibility of such a quarrel now. Canada has everything these colonies revolted to secure, and she has a great deal more. If we cannot make Canada a great and prosperous nation within the Commonwealth of British peoples the fault will be our own.—Toronto Star.

Man Has Wonderful Brain

Is Able to Memorize Figures and Words at Sight

Neum Lipovsky is giving evidence of his wonderful memorizing powers before Dr. Spearman, professor of mind and logic, at the University of London.

Psychologists have been baffled by this young man's amazing brain. Imagine a list of figures long enough to encircle an ordinary room. Lipovsky, after once reading them, can repeat them backward or forward.

Should anyone ask him, for example, the cube of 63, he will answer without hesitation 250,047. We tested it and found his answer accurate. It is just as easy for him to find the root of a number. As an illustration, if anyone mentioned 456,533, he would reply that it represents three "77s" multiplied.

But the most remarkable fact is his knowledge of days. He has every day of the Christian era carefully docketed in his mind. When asked on what day of the week May 1 fell in 1901, he replied accurately, "Wednesday." "Next year it will be on a Friday," he added.

A Power of its Own.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has a subtle power of its own. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its use is innumerable and for many years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

Speedier Than Swiftest Bird

French Army Officer Files 280 Miles An Hour

A French army officer, Adjutant Bonnet, has just streaked through the air for a distance of three kilometers at a speed of 280 miles an hour, establishing a new world's record. That speed is nearly five miles a minute. It is a rate of human travel which dwarfs any ever reached by any vehicle on land. The fastest recorded speed of the swiftest bird—about 138 miles an hour—is less than half as fast. If Bonnet's speed could be maintained, the ocean could be crossed in ten hours. One could breakfast in New York at 6 in the morning and dine in London at 8 in the evening. One could circle the globe in three days and seventeen hours.

A Romance of the Spanish Main CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini
"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is deported as a slave to the Barbadoes by King James. He is bought by Colonel Bishop and falls in love with Arabella, the niece of the colonel. Don Diego de Esquivado, a Valdez captures Bridgetown. Blood saves Mary Trull and Arabella. He captures the Spanish galleon, the Cinco Lagas. After escaping from another Spanish ship at Hispaniola, Captain Blood sails to Tortuga rendezvous of the buccaners of the Spanish Main. There, feeling that Arabella is lost to him for ever, he takes command of a private fleet and changes the name of the Cinco Lagas to the Arabella. Levasseur, a Frenchman who is in love with Madeleine, the romantic daughter of d'Ogerson, joins Blood. They are to sail together when Levasseur gets word from Madeleine to rescue her from a Dutch brig. Levasseur, the Dutchman, makes a prisoner of Madeleine's brother, and earns her contempt by his brutality.

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued—

Thereafter, what time the Captain languished in his lady's arms within the cabin, Calhoun was dealing with the spoils of war. The Dutch crew was ordered into the longboat, and bidden go to the devil. Fortunately, as they numbered fewer than thirty, the longboat, though perilous even crowded, could yet contain them. Next, Calhoun having inspected the cargo, put the quartermaster and a score of men aboard the Jongvrou, and left her to follow La Foudre, which he now headed south for the Leeward Islands.

The lady's brother was presently conducted to the cabin. The Captain rose to receive him, bending his stalwart height to avoid striking the cabin roof with his head. Mademoiselle rose, too.

"Why this?" she asked Levasseur, pointing to "her brother's pinioned wrists."

"I deplore it," said he. "I desire it to end. Let M. d'Ogerson give me his parole."

"I give you nothing."

"Henri, this is foolish! You are not behaving as my brother. You are not."

"Little fool. Don't you perceive your wicked folly? I have the harem it has brought already. I have been lost—men have died—that this monster might overtake you. And don't you yet realize where you stand—in the power of this beast, of this cur born in a kennel and bred in thieving and murder?"

He might have said more but that Levasseur struck him across the mouth. Mademoiselle suppressed a scream, as the youth staggered back under the blow.

"You are," he said simply. "He strikes a man whose hands are bound."

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Crandall, Manitoba.—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength left to ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable all the time and just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me in other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old chum in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back ached so much, and that she was going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter and I hope some one will be helped by it." Mrs. Jos. H. Kip, Box 6, Crandall, Manitoba. O."

W. N. C. 188P

The simple words, and more than the words, their tone of ineffable disdain, aroused the passion that never slumbered deeply in Levasseur. He opened the door, and flung her brother through it.

"Put that rubbish under her hatch until I call for it again," he roared, and shut the door.

Composing himself, he turned to the girl again with a deprecatory smile. But no smile answered him from her set face. She had seen her beloved hero's nature in furi papers. Fear growing to panic was written on her face, as she stood there leaning for support against the table. He caught her, seized her in his long arms and pulled her to him.

"No, no!" she panted.

"Yes, yes," he mocked her, and his mockery was the most terrible thing of all. He crushed her to him brutally, deliberately hurtful because she resisted, and kissed her whilst she writhed in his embrace.

Someone knocked. Cursing the interruption, Levasseur strode off to open. Calhoun stood before him. The Breton's face was grave. He came to report that they had sprung a leak between wind and water, the consequence of damage sustained from one of the Dutchman's shots. In alarm Levasseur went off with him. Ahead of them a low cloud showed on the horizon, which Calhoun pronounced one of the northernmost of the Virgin Islands.

"We must run for shelter there, and cover her," said Levasseur. "I do not trust this oppressive heat. A storm may catch us before we make land."

"A storm or something else," said Calhoun grimly. "Have you noticed that?" He pointed away to starboard.

Levasseur looked and caught his breath. Two ships, that at the distance seemed of considerable burden were heading towards them some five miles away.

For the remainder of that day Levasseur's thoughts were of anything but love. He remained on deck, his eyes now upon the land, now upon those two slowly gaining ships. To run for the open could avail them nothing, and in his lucky condition would provide an additional danger. He must stand at bay and fight. And then, towards evening, when within three miles of shore and when he was about to give the order to strip for battle, he almost fainted from relief to hear a voice from the crow's-nest above announce that the larger of the two ships was the Arabella. Her companion was presumably a prize.

Levasseur put off in a boat accompanied by Calhoun and two officers, and went to visit Captain Blood aboard the Arabella.

"Our brief separation has been mightily profitable," was Captain Blood's greeting. "It's a busy morning we've both had."

The tall ship that accompanied the Arabella was a Spanish vessel of twenty-six guns, the Santiago from Puerto Rico, with a hundred and twenty thousand weight of cacao, forty thousand pieces of eight, and the value of ten thousand more in jewels. A rich capture of which two thirds under the articles went to Lavassaur and his crew. Of the money and jewels a division was made on the spot. The cacao it was agreed should be taken to Tortuga to be sold.

Then it was the turn of Levasseur, and black grew the brow of Captain Blood as the Frenchman's tale was unfolded. At the end he roundly expressed his disapproval.

But Levasseur answered him, as he had answered Calhoun, that a ship was a ship, and it was ships they needed against their projected enterprise. Perhaps because things had gone well with him that day, Blood ended by shrugging the matter aside. Thereupon, Levasseur proposed that the Arabella and her prize should return to Tortuga, there to unload the cacao and enlist the further adventures that could now be shipped. Levasseur meanwhile would effect certain necessary repairs, and then proceed south, await his admiral at Saltadores for their enterprise against Maracaybo.

To Levasseur's relief, Captain Blood not only agreed, but pronounced himself ready to set sail at once. No sooner had the Arabella departed than Levasseur brought his ships into the lagoon, and set his crew to work upon the erection of temporary quarters ashore for himself, his men, and his "company's" goods during the careening and repairing of La Foudre.

At sunset that evening the wind freshened; it grew to a gale, and from that to such a hurricane that Levasseur was thankful to find himself ashore and his ships in safe shelter.

CHAPTER XV.

The Ransom

In the glory of the following morning, sparkling and clear after the storm, with an invigorating, briny tang in the air from the salt ponds on the south of the island, a curious scene was played on the beach of the Virgin Mags, at the foot of a ridge of bleached dunes, beside the spread of a tent from which Levasseur had improvised a room.

Based upon an empty cask sat the French bilibuster to transact important business; the business of making himself safe with the Governor of Tortuga. Before him, guarded by two half-naked negroes, stood young d'Ogerson. Near at hand, and under guard, mademoiselle his sister sat hunched upon a hiltop of sand. Levasseur addressed himself to M. d'Ogerson.

"I trust, monsieur," said he, with mock civility, "that I have made myself quite clear. Your ransom is fixed at twenty thousand pieces of eight, and you shall have liberty on parole to go to Tortuga to collect it. Meanwhile, your sister remains with me as a hostage."

"I refuse—utterly and absolutely, do you understand? So do your worst, and be damned for a filthy pirate," cried d'Ogerson.

"Remember your sister's honour is in pawn to me. Should you forget to return with the money, you will not consider it unreasonable that I forget to marry her." M. d'Ogerson observed the grey despair that almost stamped the beauty from her face.

"No, you dog. A thousand times, no!"

"I beg that you will spare yourself and your sister," said the Captain, "by being reasonable. I have been too modest. But since I have said twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces it shall be."

"And for what, if you please, have you said twenty thousand pieces of eight?"

Startled, Levasseur and his officers looked up and around. On the crest of the dunes behind them, in sharp silhouette against the deep cobalt of the sky, they beheld a tall, lean figure scrupulously dressed in black with silver lace, a crimson ostrich plume curled about the broad brim of his hat affording the only touch of colour. Under that hat was the tawny face of Captain Blood.

"Good morning, my Captain," said he. "It was last night's hurricane compelled our return. But who are these?"

Levasseur gnawed his lip, and changed colour. But he controlled himself to answer civilly: "As you see two prisoners."

"Ah! Washed ashore in last night's gale, eh?"

PLAIN CEREMONY AT INAUGURATION OF U.S. PRESIDENT

Washington.—Calvin Coolidge at the inauguration, calmly and quietly assumed the duties of President of the United States for four more years. In a brief ceremony, which never deviated from the simple programme laid down by himself, Mr. Coolidge renewed his oath of office on his grandmother's bible and in a short address repeated his government's policy of fragility.

Thousands of people witnessed the inauguration of Mr. Coolidge, and millions more listened to what he said at their radio sets. His address was to "My Countrymen." In an unburied, even tone, the president read from his manuscript steadily until he reached his final declaration that the United States cherishes no purpose "save that to merit the favor of Almighty God."

The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Taft, himself a former president. Mr. Coolidge responded with a firm, yet almost inaudible, "I do."

The gala celebration and expensive trappings of former inaugurations were almost entirely lacking. After the presidential address had been concluded, Mr. Coolidge was escorted by trotting cavalry from the capitol to the White House, where he took his place with his family in a glass-enclosed reviewing stand to witness the passing of the inaugural parade.

Too Much Overhead

Robt. Forke Speaks of Difficulties Under Which Canada Is Laboring

Montreal.—Canadians were living in a house that was too big for them, which they had furnished too completely with railways, canals, etc., and for which they were now not able to pay the rent, said Robert Forke, M.P., leader of the Progressive Party, in an address here. This country undoubtedly possessed great natural resources, but these were not of much immediate value as long as they were undeveloped.

There were great geographical difficulties, he said, notably the 1,000 miles of unutilized land between North Bay and Winnipeg, which, more than anything, was responsible for the existence of a definite east and west. But sectionalism must be killed, and people must think in terms of Canada, must accept a spirit of compromise and give and take, if Canada is to proceed to its proper place, he said.

Will Exploit British Goods

London.—A company is being formed with a capital of $500,000 for the establishment in London and other cities of an exhibition for the sale of model dresses made from English and Scotch dress fabrics. The models will be sold to wholesale houses and particularly supplied of the firms who made them so that wholesalers may then sell to the retail trade.

No One Wants Job

London.—Although Great Britain is paying a dole of 15 shillings a week to thousands of unemployed men, railway officials have been unable for four months to find a man who would take a job as porter in a station at 20 shillings a week.

Fewer Suicides in Berlin
Berlin.—Suicides in Berlin decreased last year to 36 for each 1,000 of population, as against 43.5 to 1,000 in 1923. Efforts are being made to get at the cause of suicide in an effort further to reduce the number.

Prince Albert Claims Crow's Nest Rates

Prince Albert.—The Prince Albert board of trade is demanding that the Crow's Nest Pass agreement be made applicable on freight to this city, basing its claim on the fact that the present Regina-Prince Albert branch of the C.N.R. was operated under lease by the C.P.R. at the time the Crow's Nest Pass agreement was made. The board considers Prince Albert has equal claims as Saskatoon, which is on the same line, to the privileges of the agreement, and is demanding that the discrimination at present existing against Prince Albert be removed.

Seeking Better Freight Rates

Northern Alberta Relying on Sir Henry Thornton's Promise
Edmonton.—Sir Henry Thornton's promise, given at a meeting in this city last August, that discriminations under the Crow's Nest Pass agreement would not be allowed to "continue unduly," is a peg on which the board of trade is hanging its hopes for some adjustment of railway freight rates more equitable to Edmonton and Northern Alberta.

In a wire sent to Sir Henry, following a conference between Sydney D. Woods, K.C., and the board of trade's special Crow's Nest rate, the Canadian National Railway's president is reminded of his promise, how being expressed at the same time that the terms of said promise may be carried out at an early date.

Marvels Of Science

Photographs of U.S. Presidential Inaugural Ceremony Transmitted By Wire in Record Time

San Francisco.—Photographs taken in Washington of the presidential inaugural ceremony, were received in this city within a few minutes by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The newest electrical marvel produced printed negatives that were as clear and perfect as when they came from the camera, although transmitted over 3,000 miles of wire. They appeared in early editions of the San Francisco afternoon newspapers. Fifty minutes was the average time elapsing between the snapping of each photo and its completion in San Francisco.

Empire Exhibition Has An Overdraft

$1,750,000 Is Largely Covered By Government Guarantee

London.—The British Empire Exhibition has an overdraft at Lloyd's Bank of £1,750,000. Lloyd's Bank last season enjoyed a monopoly of the bank facilities in the exhibition grounds at Wembley last year, but is willing to forego this privilege if other banks will share the financial responsibility of the exhibition.

The present overdraft, however, is largely covered by the government guarantee of the exhibition which was recently increased to £1,100,000 and the bank has agreed to allow an increase in the overdraft up to a total of £2,200,000.

Embassy In Turkey

London.—The British Government has decided to raise its present mission to Turkey to the status of an embassy. Negotiations carried on between the Turkish representatives in London and Austen Chamberlain, secretary for foreign affairs, were concluded and it is expected official announcement of the elevation of the mission will be made in the next few days.

Adopt Masculine Attire

London.—British women now are wearing men's high white collars, stiff-fronted shirts and white waistcoats with a bow tie. The newest evidence novelty is a string of glass beads with a small electric light as a pendant, which makes the beads sparkle at night.

First Jap Air Mail

Osaka, Japan.—Japan's first air mail service will be started soon between the cities of Osaka, Oita and Fukuoka. Passengers also may be carried. Each piece of mail will be carried for 40 cents (about 40 cents in Canadian money).

Vancouver, B.C.—World famous as a woman war correspondent and magazine writer, Eleanor Franklin Egan is dead, at New York from pneumonia. She was the wife of Mr. Martin Egan, who at one time was on the staff of the Victoria Times, and later did war correspondent work. Mrs. Egan accompanied the British forces in the Mesopotamian campaign and subsequently toured India, and the Far East. She was a gifted writer and news of her death will cause genuine sorrow in British Columbia.

Using Radio To Spread Propaganda

Daily Programme in Russia Devoted to Political Talks

Moscow.—Soviet Russia has three radio sending stations, at Moscow, Leningrad and Nichni-Novgorod. These are under the control of the communist party of posts, telegraphs and telephones.

Much of the daily programme is devoted to talks of a political nature. The Bolsheviks take advantage of the government controlled radio to further their party purposes. There is also the usual badge of vocal and instrumental music.

Carry On Good Work

Research Council Gives Aid to Many Activities

Ottawa.—Forty-six research investigations were carried on in 1924, and 19 reports have been made under an allowance from the council for scientific and industrial research, the annual report of which was tabled in the House. During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1924, $55,820 was granted for research purposes, out of a total vote of $120,000. Twelve fellowships eight studentships and 24 bursaries were granted by the council, and work was being carried on with 19 university departments in Canada.

U.S. Congress Favors World Court

Washington.—The house placed itself overwhelmingly on record in favor of "early adherence" by the United States to the world court "with the reservations recommended by President Harding and President Coolidge." The resolution, which requires either senate or presidential approval, stated the readiness of the house to participate in the enactment of such legislation.

Singapore Base Will Cost Million Pounds

Singapore.—The cost of the site of the proposed Singapore naval base was $1,200,000. It was officially stated at the Empire naval conference in session here. It was added that the acquisition of the site had been completed, and the land was being handed over to the British government. The Hong Kong will contribute $250,000 sterling toward the cost of the base. This is the first naval conference held in Far Eastern waters since March, 1921. Much importance is attached to it in view of the defence problems to be discussed in regard to the Pacific.

Will Hold Conference in May

To Discuss Development of Canadian West Indies Trade

Ottawa.—Preliminary arrangements are under way for the holding of a Canadian-West Indies conference in May. The idea will be the negotiation of a new treaty for the development of reciprocal trade. Hence Logan, M.P., who recently visited the West Indies as commissioner for the Canadian government, reported that everywhere the proposal for another conference was received with enthusiasm, and that there was a general desire to send delegates.

Will Terminate Agreement

Western Mines Give Notice to American Mine Workers

Calgary.—The Western Canada Coal Operators' Association at a meeting here, decided to give notice to the United Mine Workers of America on March 31 terminating their present agreement on September 30. Since the resumption of operations in October after the strike, the coal mining industry of the province has been badly hit, many of the mines only working one or two days a week. The present cost of production at the union mines is stated, has been largely responsible for the great falling off in business.

Cannery For Winnipeg

Announce Granting of Charter to a Million Dollar Company

Winnipeg.—It was announced that a Dominion charter has been granted to a million dollar company which plans to operate a cannery in the Winnipeg district. The company will be known as the Allied British Canners and Distributors, Limited, and is controlled by United States capitalists. Operations probably will be commenced next fall.

In addition to the Winnipeg plant, the company will establish canneries in Quebec and British Columbia, according to present plans.

Prospector Has Narrow Escape

Injured in Fall Down Shaft, Unattended For Eight Days

Dawson, Y.T.—Fred Fox, 50, a prospector, fell down a 30-foot shaft on Gold Creek on February 20, and, although badly injured, managed to climb to the surface and crawl to his cabin. Fox lay for eight days unattended and unable to help himself. He ran out of food and wood for fuel, and was close to death when his plight was discovered. He is expected to recover.

Would End Lotteries

Ottawa.—L. H. Martell, of Hanis, intends to introduce a bill in the house, which, if adopted, will cut out church lotteries altogether. Under the Criminal Code as it stands, church and charitable institutions may hold lotteries with the permission of the municipal authorities, when the proceeds exceed $50 in value. Mr. Martell's bill would abolish this exception to the general rule.

Powder Explosion Injures Soldiers

Hofotulu.—Eight enlisted men of the United States army were seriously injured, three being fatally, as a result of an explosion at Schofield Barracks, near here. The men were loading shells in preparation for the forthcoming army and navy maneuvers when some powder exploded, burning all of them.

ONTARIO WANTS TO SECURE COAL FROM ALBERTA

Toronto.—During his address in the legislature, Premier Ferguson spoke at some length on Ontario getting coal from other Canadian provinces.

Even if it meant a deficit for the National Railways, there would be the satisfaction of knowing that the money was staying within Canada, and that interprovincial trade was being carried along as Confederation intended that it should be, the premier said.

He declared that arrangements had been made to "bring 100,000 tons of Alberta coal to Ontario on May 1 next, and that in a short time it was hoped to get Alberta and Nova Scotia coal here as cheaply as United States coal was now brought in.

Assessment Tribunal

New Act May Be Submitted in Alberta Legislature

Edmonton.—To make the taxing of improvements compulsory in all the towns and villages of the province, and to provide for the establishment of a special tribunal to deal with assessments and assessment appeals, are the main objectives of a proposed scheme now being considered by the government. It is likely that a new act, embodying these points, will be prepared for submission at the present session of the legislature. A strong delegation for the Alberta Municipalities Association to confer with the government, when the question was discussed at length.

Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Red Deer were represented, together with a number of smaller places.

New Earl of Oxford Makes Maiden Speech

Asquith Cautions—Allies Against Indefinite Occupation of Rhineland

London.—The Earl of Oxford and Asquith made his maiden speech in the House of Lords. He cautioned the allies against occupying the Rhineland indefinitely, when they had expected to keep troops there for a strictly limited time. France's feeling of insecurity at present, he said, afforded grounds for a comprehensive international pact, in the interest, not only of French security, but of the security of Europe and the whole world. That, he argued, was the most urgent need today.

Interrupt Cock Fight

Windsor, Ont.—Three thousand dollars' worth of poultry is crowing wildly in the basement of the provincial police headquarters here as the result of a raid in Sandwich, when 45 game cocks were seized and the preliminaries for an old-fashioned cock fight interrupted. About 40 spectators were found in a basement where the cock pit was erected.

Supervising Credits

Winnipeg.—Six additional rural credit societies with total liabilities of $224,532, have been placed in the rural credits as administrators. Of the 74 societies in the province, 44 with approximately $1,750,000 outstanding, are now being administered by the provincial department, it is officially stated.

That Canada is on the verge of a trade boom which may last until the end of this year was the statement made in Toronto recently by Richard Conway, Vice-President of the Brook-mire Forecasting Service of New York. The main factor responsible for the upswing of Canadian business, he said, is the opening of the foreign markets to the grains of the past year.

Federal control of United States railroads, adopted as a war measure during the period December 31, 1917,
February 29, 1920, cost the country
$1,674,500,000, of which $1,123,500,- 000 was total loss, $358,000,000 estimated expenses and $19,000,000 was required to reimburse small deficit roads, according to James C. Davis, Director General of Railroads, who has just submitted his annual report.

Remarkable absence of timidity is being shown by wild animals in the neighborhood of Banff, Alberta. It is reported, as a result of kindly treatment. Heavy snows recently brought elk and deer into the main part of the town, where a parade by these animals is not an uncommon sight. They make the rounds of the houses, looking for tit-bits, which are not denied them. One big elk, with a magnificent set of antlers, is as regular on his schedule of calls as the milkman.

The most recent addition to the Canadian Pacific Railway's British Columbia fleet of 28 passenger ships, freighters, barges, ferries and tugs is the British Admiralty Rescue type tug, "S. Florence," which will leave Glasgow at an early date to make the 2,600 mile journey to Victoria under her own steam via the Panama Canal. She will be one of the largest towing tugs in Pacific coast waters and is capable of towing the biggest liners making use of ports in that ocean.

St. Lawrence Route Claims Pilotage Record

Above, "The British Columbia," one of the first steam vessels to ply the St. Lawrence. Below, a small Canadian Pacific tugboat, with pilot aboard, is towed into the streets of Montreal. See, in the background, the Harbour at Father's Point, where the pilot will leave her.

That not a single accident incident had occurred on the St. Lawrence river between Quebec and Father's Point during the 1922 season of navigation, though the passing up and down of over 3,000 ships, representing a tonnage of fifty millions, had been recorded, was an interesting statement made at the annual meeting of the Quebec Harbour Pilots Association held in Quebec City recently.

A review of the activities of the past season brought out the fact that there had been 3,012 arrivals between Quebec and Father's Point, each of these ships carrying a licensed pilot.
The number of pilotage records was the highest in the history of the St. Lawrence River. The fact that the size of the vessels sailing and leaving the St. Lawrence has been increasing continually in recent years makes the foregoing achievement all the more remarkable, as his has naturally increased the amount of pilotage.

As a result of the fact that the St. Lawrence route during 1922 will prove even more popular than before. A large number of ships are expected to come will enjoy a trip down the River on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Melita early in May, and when the more general movement of tourists to Europe begins later in the year, large numbers of them, whether from the United States or Canada, will leave from Quebec or Montreal. With but four days on the open sea, this route to Europe, offers advantages other than scenic which are responsible mainly for the increase in traffic and the consequent increase in tonnage, and size of vessel operating over it.

RADIO Station CNRW, oper-

the western Gateway City, accord-musical aggregations of any size, even to brass and pipe bands, symphony orchestras and large choirs, and the broadcasts, which are con-

Saturday's Good Picture

After an absence of four weeks, Mr N J Bond returned on Saturday evening with his movie picture show. "The Covered Wagon" was the picture, and was greatly admired by the fans. Owing to missing train connections at Edmonton, the outfit did not get going till near 10 o'clock, keeping the audience in the hall till midnight. To make one of the scenes more realistic a smoke barage was sent up, at which one of the grand dames in a front-pew took offense, accusing two nearby young gents of smoking cigarettes and threatened to call the police.

Sporting Notes.

A return match between Concordia College and Stony Plain was played on the local ice on the afternoon of the 8th, with a good crowd of spectators in attendance. The visiting team put up a snappy game thruout—both their individual plays and team combinations calling for favorable comment. They are by far the best bunch of hockeyists that has visited Stony in recent years, and no doubt could have duplicated the score of the previous Sunday, but laid off and let Stony have the game 3 to 1, no doubt with the idea of playing off the tie in the City on Saturday next, when some good hockey playing should be seen.

Mr A E Michael refereed the game in a very satisfactory manner.

Following are the teams—

Concordia	Stony Plain
Burkhart	goal
Fruit	defence
Quilaver	Fuhr
Ronnau	centre
Werschoer	l wing
Endera	r wing
Ries	Subs
Schmidt	Oatway
	Jac Ulmer

NORWEGIANS TO GATHER AT TWIN CITIES

Fifty Thousand Canadian-Norwegians Will Attend Norse-American Centennial at Minneapolis and St. Paul in June.

King Haakon, President Coolidge and Lord and Lady Byng Invited.

King Haakon of Norway.

In June next, a between three and four hundred thousand Canadians and Americans of Norwegian origin will gather at the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul to celebrate by a great national gathering the hundredth anniversary of the landing in America of the first organized party of Norwegian settlers on the Continent. It was 185 that the first group of Norwegian immigrants, 16 tons, set sail from Stavanger carrying a little band of adventurers who settled in New York state and ever since that time there has been a steady stream of newcomers to this continent from their homeland.

The coming gathering and its purposes were recently discussed at the local offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, by Professor Gisle Botne of the Minnesota state University at Minneapolis. The professor stated that the Legislature of Minnesota had endorsed the gathering and had forwarded through the Secretary of the State of Washington invitations to President Coolidge, King Haakon of Norway and the Governor General of Canada. President Coolidge has already accepted and Lord and Lady Byng have given assurance that they will attend. It is expected that about 10,000 Norwegians now living in Canada will attend the Norse-American Centennial.

The gathering will be opened on June 5 next and about forty "By-degags" or Norwegian Clubs will hold meetings during the first day. On Sunday June 7 the Bishop of Oslo, which until recently was known as Christiania, will hold a divine service and the succeeding days will be given up to meetings, field sports and musical competitions, and an historical program depicting the Viking activities of one thousand years ago and the history of Norwegians at home and abroad up to the present time, portraying their contributions to civilization, in discoveries, science, agriculture, industry and commerce in art and literature will be staged. The costumes will be magnificent and in brilliancy of technique, in magnitude and splendour the whole array will rival anything of its kind that has heretofore been produced. The other features of the Centennial are being prepared on the same elaborate scale.

It is already arranged that a large delegation from Norway's parliament will be present and there is some hope that the Norwegian Crown Prince may attend. The Norwegian American universities are closing for the summer early so that their faculties and students may be present. Professor Botne pointed out that the Norwegians had done much in the building up of the central western states and their influence was shown by the fact that the governors of no less than five states were of Norwegian birth or descent. It has been proposed that the Canadian Department of Colonization shall have an exhibit at the convention.

In the course of the interview, professor Botne stated that undoubtedly the new United States immigration laws would result in large numbers of Norwegians coming to this country during the next few years.
